(8) Sexual Offences (General Provisions)⁵¹

S. 36 inserted
by No. 8/1991
s. 3.

36. Additional conduct that constitutes rape

- (1) Without affecting the conduct which constitutes rape at common law, it is also rape if a person—
- (a) introduces his penis into the anus or mouth of another person in circumstances in which the introduction of the penis of a person into the vagina of another person would be rape at common law; or
 - (b) introduces a part of his or her body (other than the penis) into the vagina or anus of another person in the circumstances described in paragraph (a); or
 - (c) introduces an object into the vagina or anus of another person in the circumstances described in paragraph (a); or
 - (d) does not withdraw—
 - (i) his penis from the vagina, anus or mouth of another person; or
 - (ii) a part of his or her body (other than the penis) from the vagina or anus of another person; or
 - (iii) an object being manipulated by him or her from the vagina or anus of another person—on becoming aware that the other person is not consenting to its being there or realising that the other person might not be so consenting.

- (2) For the purposes of paragraphs (a), (b) and (c) of sub-section (1) introduction to any extent is sufficient.
- (3) It is not necessary to prove the emission of semen in order to prove rape of any kind.

36A. Consent of no effect if obtained by certain false representations

S. 36A
inserted by
No. 8/1991
s. 3.

- (1) Consent to conduct which could otherwise constitute rape or indecent assault is of no effect if it was obtained by a false representation that the conduct was for medical or hygienic purposes.
- (2) Nothing in this section prevents consent to conduct which could otherwise constitute rape or indecent assault from being regarded at common law as having no effect because it was obtained under a mistake.

37. Meaning of sexual penetration

S. 37 inserted
by No. 8/1991
s. 3.

- (1) For the purposes of this Act an act of sexual penetration is—
 - (a) the introduction by a person of his penis into the vagina, anus or mouth of another person, whether or not there is emission of semen; or
 - (b) the introduction by a person of a part of his or her body (other than the penis) into the vagina or anus of another person, otherwise than in the course of an appropriate and generally accepted medical or hygienic procedure; or
 - (c) the introduction by a person of an object into the vagina or anus of another person, otherwise than in the course of an appropriate and generally accepted medical or hygienic procedure.
- (2) For the purposes of sub-section (1) introduction to any extent is sufficient.
- (3) Both persons are, for the purposes of this Act, taking part in an act of sexual penetration.

38. Meaning of aggravating circumstances

S. 38 inserted
by No. 8/1991
s. 3.

- (1) For the purposes of the law relating to rape and indecent assault there are aggravating circumstances only if—

 - (iv) an explosive; or
 - (v) an imitation explosive—
- as defined in section 77 (1); or
- (b) immediately before or during or immediately after the commission of the offence and at, or in the vicinity of, the place where the offence was committed—
 - (i) the offender inflicts serious personal violence on the victim or another person; or
 - (ii) the offender does an act which is likely seriously and substantially to degrade or humiliate the victim; or
 - (iii) the offender is aided or abetted by another person who is present.
- (2) The judge presiding at a trial at which a person is found guilty of—
- (a) rape; or
 - (b) an attempt to commit rape; or
 - (c) assault with intent to commit rape; or
 - (d) indecent assault—
- may, in the circumstances described in sub-section (3), direct that a verdict of guilty of the offence with aggravating circumstances be entered in the records of the court.
- (3) A judge may give a direction under sub-section (2) if satisfied that the accused had previously been convicted (under this Act or any corresponding previous enactment or at common law) of—
- (a) rape (with or without aggravating circumstances); or
 - (b) rape with mitigating circumstances; or
 - (c) an attempt to commit rape (with or without aggravating circumstances); or
 - (d) assault with intent to commit rape (with or without aggravating circumstances); or

(e) indecent assault (with or without aggravating circumstances).

- (4) A judge may give a direction under sub-section (2) even if the accused pleaded guilty.
